WOLF SUB ZERO SPECIALTY APPLIANCE CULINARY STAGE- CELEBRITY CHEFS Saturday, Sept. 8th

12:45-1:30pm

Mike Garaghty - Executive Chef

WÜSTHOF

Preparing for a Dinner Party: Three Essential Knives Every Kitchen Needs

Originally from Warwick, Rhode Island, Chef Mike moved to the Minneapolis area where he began his career on the ground floor, working as a line cook. It was there that he discovered this was more than just a job for him, as he fell in love with food and the culinary industry. He enjoyed the fast pace, teamwork, and of course the joy of creating fine food.

Chef Mike then moved into a Sous Chef position at a Minneapolis hotel. This is where he honed his skills under the watchful eye of the Executive Chef, who was also a former culinary instructor. Eventually, Chef Mike became the Executive Chef, taking the reins from his mentor. From there, he continued his career leading the kitchens of various establishments, including his own full-service catering company, A Call to Catering, which he sold in 2011 to join the WÜSTHOF team.

Chef Mike is currently the Executive Chef of Wüsthof-Trident of America, Inc. presiding and appearing in WÜSTHOF-sponsored television segments, retail events, cooking videos, social media initiatives, trade shows, consumer food festivals, and other elements of the brand's sales and marketing campaigns.

1:45-2:30pm

Brother Luck - Celebrity Chef of Top Chef, Chef/Owner,

Four by Brother Luck of CO Springs

Bow and Arrow Farms Blue Cornbread with Wojapi and Pueblo Green Chile

Chef Brother Luck started working in professional kitchens when he was 14-years-old. During high school, he was awarded multiple culinary scholarships through competition cooking organizations such as C-CAP (Careers through Culinary Arts Program) and The Art Institutes (Best Teen Chef 2001). Luck graduated from The Art Institute of Phoenix and is a Certified Executive Chef through the American Culinary Federation.

After culinary school, Chef Brother Luck continued to work in many fine dining kitchens around the world including the Takitei and Kinjohro Ryokans located in Kanazawa, Japan. His first restaurant Brother Luck Street Eats was inspired by street food from around the world. In March 2017, he opened Four by Brother Luck in downtown Colorado Springs focusing on the four providers behind his cooking - hunters, fisherman, farmer and gatherers. He has received numerous accolades including "Best Local Chef" and "Most Cutting Edge Restaurant" by The Gazette Newspaper and Colorado Springs Independent. Ready for the next challenge, he is no stranger to competition after winning his episode of "Beat Bobby Flay" and appearing on Chopped.

2:45-3:30pm

Craig Dixon - Executive Chef

Maine Shack, Maine Shack Lobster Roll

Craig Dixon grew up on Boston's North Shore, spending his days as a kid fishing on the Saugus River and watching the lobster boats come in. When he was 13 he started his culinary career working the slicer at a local roast beef and clam shack. Sunday's were spent with family eating lobster, clams and crab on newspaper covered picnic tables in the back yard.

Craig moved to Denver for college where he easily fell in love with the mountain lifestyle, skiing, biking and working in Breckendridge restaurants for nearly a decade. An old friend Max MacKissock drew him to Denver to help open Vita in the Highlands. Since then he has taken the helm as chef of Cafe Options and Honor Society. He is currently working at Bar Dough, where he connected with the Maine Shack Team. Craig is excited to bring the iconic New England cuisine of his childhood to Denver.
